

Onsite Early Intervention Services

Get ahead of injuries and keep your employees healthy

When your employee needs medical care, you must provide it. However, not every pain requires a doctor. In fact, nearly 60% of all reports of discomfort can be addressed effectively without medical treatment. Atlas can help those employees who are in pain but have not yet experienced an injury. We work with you to help keep them injury-free and on the job.

We Address Symptoms

In many situations, employee discomfort can be effectively addressed with first aid. However, it is crucial for qualified staff to first assess the situation correctly and determine the proper course of action. Next, it is equally important to address symptoms only through first aid measures. Atlas provides you the experience and protocol needed to protect your employees, remain compliant, and succeed.

We Work on the Cause

Addressing symptoms alone fails to address the cause of the discomfort. Atlas staff works on-site with the employee to review work methods, identify the cause of the discomfort, and provide guidance on how to improve their work methods to avoid further injury. Our professionals don't hide in the clinic; they work where the work is done.

We Don't Require a Big Commitment

Through our nationwide network of professionals, we provide expert care almost anywhere. We can provide support for as little as a few hours one day a week, if that is all you need or can afford. No matter how much time is invested, you can have full confidence that your employees are receiving expert care and training.

Nationwide Network

No matter where you live, Atlas is there. We have teamed with a select group of the best healthcare professionals across the country. Chances are there's an Atlas professional in your community. It's our commitment to keeping your people injury-free and your business on track.
